

i29

The invisible kitchen

Private client, Paris

project
Apartment in Paris

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Paris, FR

floor area
150 m²

completion year
2014

2

'We reduced our design to the absolute minimum'

project
Apartment in Paris

design
i29 interior architects

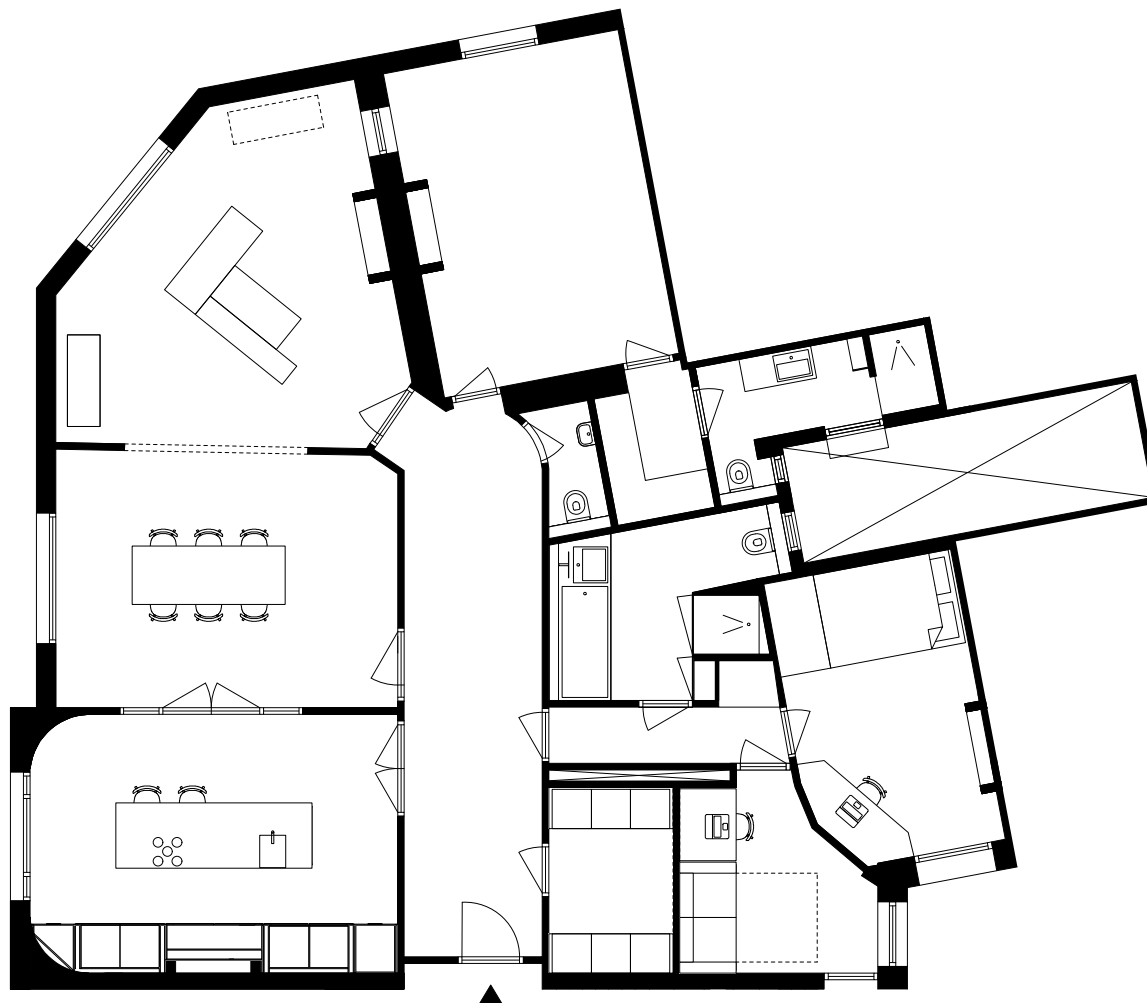

client
private client

category
residential

location
Paris, FR

floor area
150 m²

completion year
2014

Over the last couple of years, the kitchen has become more and more part of the living room for many people. The owners of this apartment in Paris also asked us to integrate the two. We did exactly that, but without disturbing the natural beauty of this grand old lady.

We reduced our design to the absolute minimum and designed a kitchen island so thin it's hardly visible. Large sliding panels with the exact same profile as the walls around it, conceal all kitchen appliances and storage space. This way the kitchen becomes almost invisible in the monumental space. Contemporary and classic at the same time.

project
Apartment in Paris

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Paris, FR

floor area
150 m²

completion year
2014

4

project
Apartment in Paris

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Paris, FR

floor area
150 m²

completion year
2014

project
Apartment in Paris

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Paris, FR

floor area
150 m²

completion year
2014

6

