

Connecting with nature

Private client, Bloemendaal

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

2

'Fine details give the material a high end feeling'

We used pine wood panels – a basic yet beautiful natural material- for bespoke cabinets, wardrobes, walls, sliding doors, beds and even the fire place. Fine details give the material a high end feeling. The pine wood connects the different areas of the house; it also connects the house to nature even more.

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

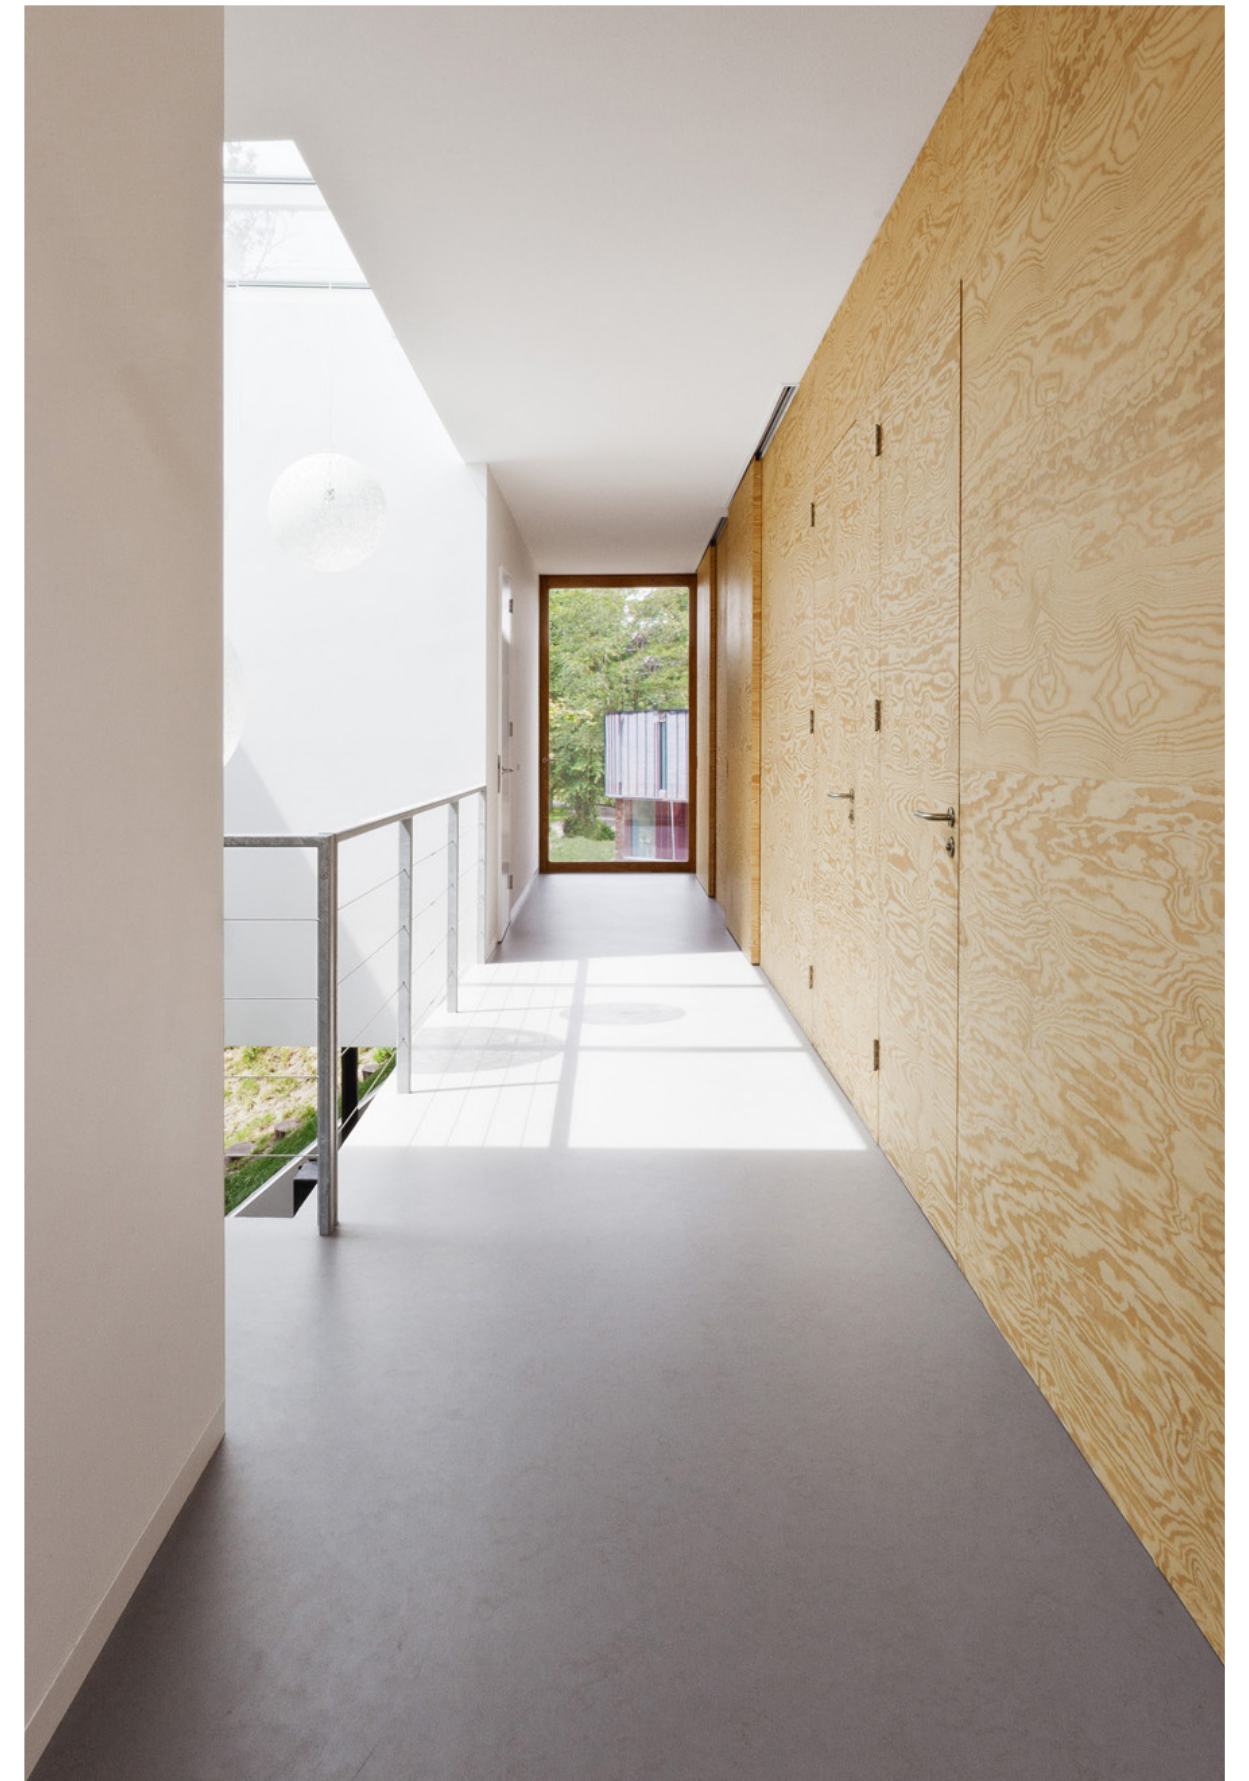

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

4

Minimalism, loads of daylight, perfect detailing and connection with nature were also the starting point for the interior we designed. Paul de Ruiter architects gave special attention to sustainability and energy-efficiency. The villa has geothermal energy storage, a heat pump and solar panels on the sedum covered roof.

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

5

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

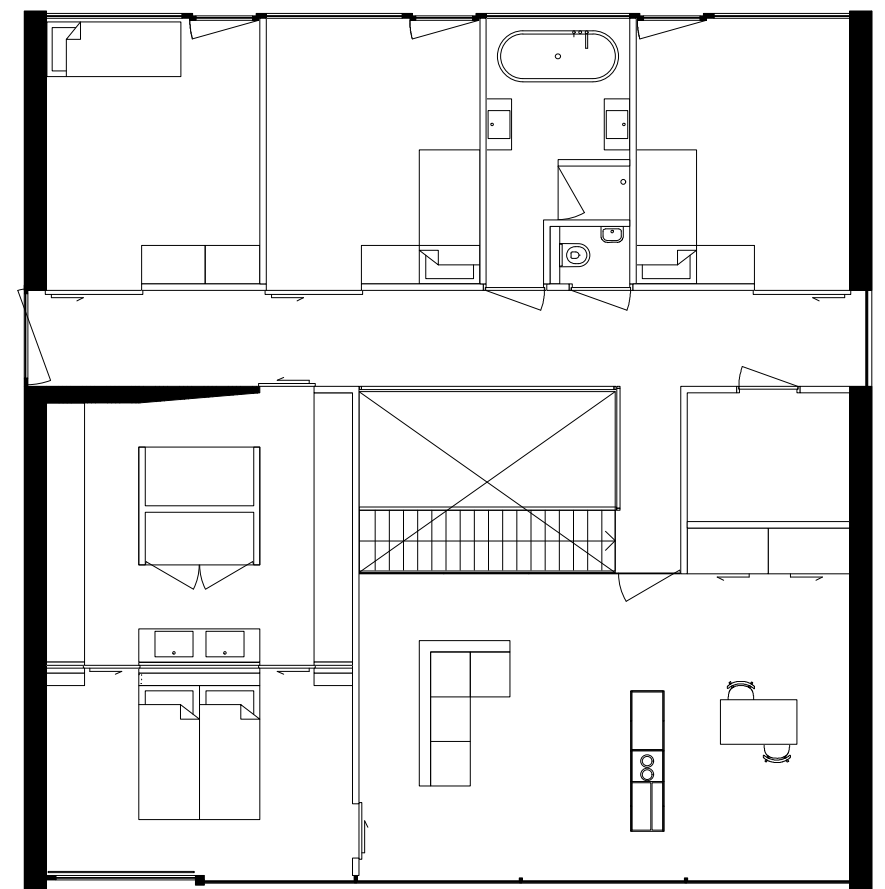

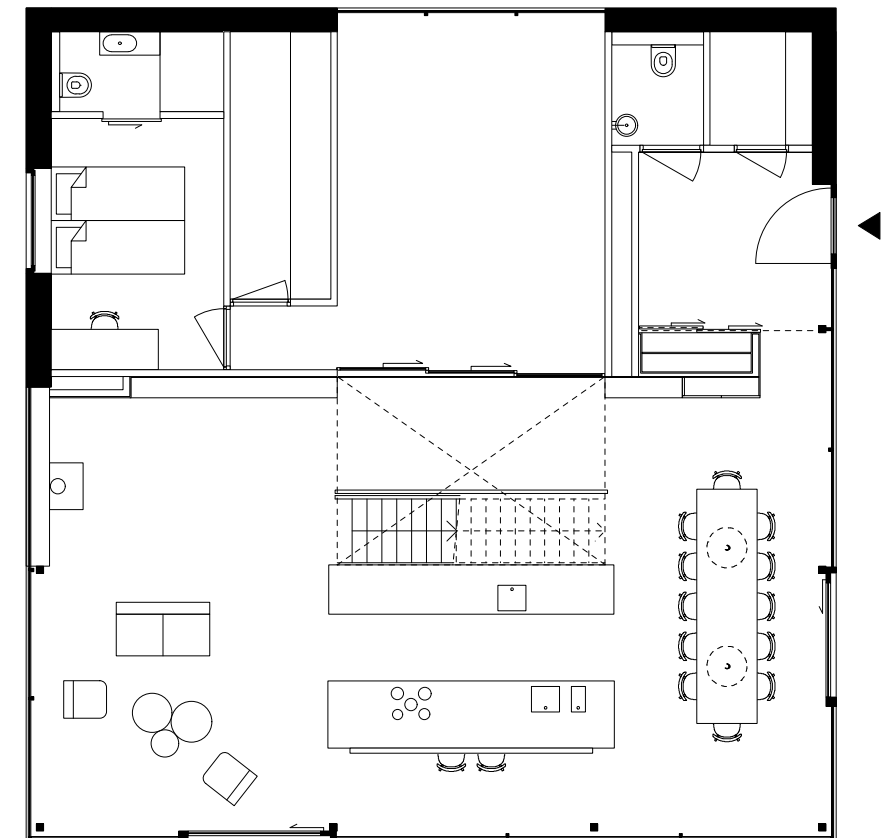

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

project
House in Bloemendaal

design
i29 interior architects

client
private client

category
residential

location
Bloemendaal, NL

floor area
490 m²

completion year
2014

